DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-33 are pending in the application.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-12 and 23, drawn to a method for detecting an interaction between a first test agent and a second test agent by using two fusion constructs, a method for selecting compounds capable interfering with an interaction between a first test and a second test agent by using two fusion constructs in vitro in the presence of a test compound, classified in class 435, subclass 320.1.
- II. Claims 13-15 and 24-26, drawn to a method for detecting protein-protein interaction by using two fusion proteins in vitro, and a method for selecting compounds capable of interfering with a protein-protein interaction by using two fusion proteins in vitro in the presence of the test compounds, classified in class 530, subclass 402.
- III. Claims 16-21 and 27-32, drawn to a method for detecting protein-protein interaction by using a protein microarray, and a method for selecting compounds capable of interfering with a protein-protein interaction by using a protein microarray in the presence of the one or more test compound, classified in class 436, subclass 518.
- IV. Claims 22 and 33, drawn to a method for detecting protein-protein interaction by expressing two fusion proteins in vivo, and a method of selecting compounds capable of interfering with a protein-protein interaction by expressing two fusion proteins and a test polypeptide in vivo, classified in class 435, subclass 325.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other for following reasons.

The inventions of Groups I-IV are patentably distinct from each other because the inventions are drawn to methods that require different starting material and modes of operation.

Each method comprises different steps for achieving distinct purposes. Therefore, the inventions of Groups I-IV are patentably distinct.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. A search of the subject matter of one invention would not be coextensive with a search of the other invention, and therefore the search would be burdensome. Each invention is capable of supporting a separate patent.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
